VETERAN DUST

is the successful resu't of years of dil'gent study and careful experiment. It is not a l'quid, but is manu'actured in grasulated form. An every day necessity, not a luxury. It absorbs dirt and prevents dust from rising during the precess of sweeping. It makes bare floors clean and smooth, saves scrubbing, kills the cu-t and germs, brightins up old corpets and sugs, obvistes dispatreus consequences of an inevitable cloud of dust while sweeping the old way.

Used on Floors, Tiles, Lino-leums, Oil Cloths, Carpets and Rugs, and possesses proprieties that firmly grip the dust and drycleans them.

Practically Indispensable for Dwellings, Offices, Stores, Warehouses, Pablic Buildings, Schools, Co!leges, Hospitale, Cturches, Theatres, Halls, Restaurants, Hotels, Factories or wastiver microbe-infected dust accumultas on floor space.

Dust Breeds Consumption

as dangerone, everybody admits that and that from other districts with which argument is unnecessary. Lust is destructive, hence the necessity of using a Sweeping Compound of Established reputition and dependable qualit, being guaranteed Att septic and a Disin-

Carpets, Rugs and Art Squares

Why take up carnets and best them to pieces when the Veteran Dust Exterminator Sweeping Compound will gradually clean them where they are and briog back their original colors on the floor without taking them up?

This sweeping Compound does not lay the dust, but removes it from the floor by absorption. No dust rises and sweeping becomes an unalloyed pleasure instead of masty drudgery.

The Pip and the Slip. Too much mince pie had done the Little Maimie got a pain in her sash and had to go to bed. The family physician and his top hat called and prescribed a pill. Maimie's mother said very well, but the family physician did not know Maimie, and she was quite sure Maimie would not take the pill. The family physician said he would make it a sweet pill, but Maimie's mother replied that so long as it was a pill it would be no use.

Then the family physician was struck with a brilliant idea. The pill should be craftily concealed in the center of a preserved pear and sent up to little Maimie to eat. An hour later Maimie's mother went to see how her sweetest dear was going on. She appeared to be going on excellently.

"And did my pet eat all her pear?" inquired the fond mother. "Yes, mumsie," replied the little dar ling, "all but the nasty seed." There's many a slip 'twixt the pear and the pip.-London Answers.

Bituminous Coal.

The first bituminous coal mined in the United States, states the United States geological survey, was taken from what is usually termed the Richmond basin, a small area in the south eastern portion of Virginia, near the city of Richmond. This basin is situ-I: 18 inexpensive; pays for itself by ated on the eastern margin of the in Goochland, Henrico, Powhatan and Chesterfield counties. The coal beds are much distorted, and the coal is of Dust is extremely disagreeable as well rather low grade when compared with it has to come into competition. The occurrence of coal was known in the Richmond basin as early as 1700, and in 1789 shipments were made to some of the northern states. At present what little coal is produced in this field is for local consumption only .-Scientific American.

Movement of Icebergs. In the investigation of the currents round the coast of Newfoundland it has been observed that there is at times a wide difference in the direction of the drift of icebergs and that of the flat or pan ice, which, having no great depth, is governed in its motions by the surface currents and the winds, whereas the icebergs, the larger parts of which are submerged to a great depth, follow only the movement of the ocean water as a whole and are uninfluenced by the winds. In consequence a huge berg may often be seen majestically maintaining its slow advance in opposition to the wind and across the general motion of the fields of flat ice surrounding it. The sealers often take advantage of this fact by mooring their vessels to an iceberg in order to prevent a drift to leeward. -Philadelphia Record.

Hunting the Kangaroo.

When brought to bay the kangaroo jumps like a flash for the hunter's chest and tries to crush it in with his fore feet. To prevent this each man wears across his breast a two or three inch thick matting. Armed with a spear, with a club attachment at the other end, they ride upon swift horses into a herd. With the agility and equipoise of circus riders they stand erect upon their horses and use their spears and clubs.

The kangaroo is able to jump clear over a horse. As the game is bagged it is skinned, and the skin is stretched on the ground and pegged down to prevent shrinkage. The flesh furnishes meat for the camp. Each man places his private mark upon his booty, and when they have 100 apiece they return back to civilization.

Why He Searched.

The old man had evidently dropped something in the muddy road, and he began searching for it. In three minutes about thirty strangers had joined in the search, and every additional minute brought additional searchers, till at last one, bolder than the rest, plucked up heart and spoke:

"What are you looking for?" he inquired. "My friend," mumbled the old man, "I have dropped a piece of taffy can-

"But, great Scott," cried another of the crowd angrily, "why do you go looking for it when it will be covered with dirt?" "Because, my inquisitive friend," re plied the old man, "my false teeth are sticking to that taffy."

Strange Hiding Place.

False teeth are occasionally used for secretive purposes. An eccentric old lady boasts of a roof plate which consists of two thin sheets of gold between which a miniature copy of her will is inserted. In a similar manner a dyer preserves a prescription which he declares he would not disclose for a large sum.-London Mail.

Envious.

"Just think of it!" said the student of immigration. "Many men who come to this country cannot write their own names."

"Yes," answered Mr. Pinchpenny "and when I get down my check book on the first of the month I am inclined to envy them."-Washington Star.

Fixing the Break. "They were both broken up by their separation."

"But I understand they've effected a reconciliation and are now re-paired." -St. Louis Star.

There is no teacher like necessity; it has been the making of man; it wakes up his dormant faculties and stimulates to action his latent talents.
